Univera Fact Sheet

Every day, there is an ongoing seesaw of damage and repair within every cell of your body. Because of this, there are certain things that you must do to ensure these cells receive the proper nutrients they need to build better cells for tomorrow. Everyone needs to nourish, restore, fortify, and vitalize their cells for optimal health and regeneration. The Univera product line is designed with the science of cell renewal in mind to provide the necessary tools to both repair and prevent cellular damage.

NOURISH - Get the essential nutrients you need to be healthy. Your body needs fuel to thrive, and these products help provide that fuel—delivering critical elements for optimal cell health, weight management, hormone balance, and stress relief.

RESTORE - Develop optimal cell function to prevent health risks. Each day the body suffers damage from forces that degenerate our vital functions. The compounds in our Restore products help repair that damage and improve how you look and feel.

FORTIFY - Defend your body against the ravages of everyday life. Strengthening your cells is the best way to protect them against the damaging environmental and other everyday forces they constantly face.

VITALIZE - Enhance your energy to feel and do your best. These products fuel the cell, help optimize energy, sharpen focus, and slow cell degeneration—all driving peak cell efficiency.

Univera works on a very simple, but carefully integrated model of discover, develop, and deliver. By looking at natural compounds and their effect on the human body, Univera has developed unique nutritional formulations based on scientific research. Here at Herzog, we deliver these products and their renewing power directly to you.
